Conditions

1. All the Awards and Prizes are meant for the Life Members of APPI only, except R. Srinivasan and Harish Gupta Prizes, for which the candidate should have been enrolled at least as an Annual member of APPI.
2. All the Nominations/Applications for various Orations, Awards and Prizes should be submitted to the General Secretary of APPI in four sets on or before the prescribed date. Nominations / Applications sent after the due date will NOT be considered. However, R. Srinivasan and Harish Gupta prizes will be awarded to the best paper presented by a P.G. and U.G. student respectively during the Annual Conference of APPI. These applicants should have been enrolled atleast as members of APPI and should have been registered as delegates for the Annual Conference. The Organizing Secretary will arrange a separate scientific session for these papers on the first or second day of the Annual Conference and a panel of judges constituted by the General Secretary would assess these papers during their presentation. However, in view of large number of entries specially for R. Srinivasan Prize making it extremely difficult to arrange for their presentations on a single day and also get them it assessed by a single panel of Judges, the P.G. students applying for R. Srinivasan Prize should send three sets of their full length paper to the organizing secretary of the conference one month earlier to the date of the conference. Whenever the number of papers submitted exceeds ten, they will be short listed to the best of ten papers after a scrutiny by a scientific committee constituted by the organizing secretary and only those ten candidates will be permitted to present their papers during the conference for final selection. However for Harish Gupta Prize, three sets of the abstracts must be sent to the organizing secretary of the conference well in advance. The winners will be awarded their prizes on the spot or during the valedictory function of the said conference.
3. The applicant should not have received any prize for the same work / paper in the past from any organization. The applicant should enclose a certificate to this effect. However, this is not applicable for awards No. 1 to 3 and II.
4. Nominations for awards No. 1 to 3 and II should include the Bio-data of the nominee, justification for nomination by the nominator, list of references and consent of the nominee.
5. Applications for the award No. 4 to 10 should be based on the original work conducted preferably in India / recently published / under publication / unpublished work. Four copies of the reprints/manuscripts should reach the General Secretary on or before the prescribed date.
6. Where, there are multiple authors, all other authors must nominate the proposed author for the award based on the major quantum of the work done by the applicant.
7. Prof. R.C. Shukla Award will be given for the best paper submitted in cardio vascular physiology. There is no age bar but the applicant should be a member of APPI. The paper submitted for this award should be the original work conducted by the scientist in India / Abroad and should not have received any other Award/Prize for the same work.

8. For Prof. Puthuraya Oration Award, interested teachers in Physiology who are the life members of APPI may send their consent letter, duly proposed and seconded by two life members of APPI, along with his/her professional profile as a teacher. The profile should include educational qualification, number of years of teaching experience (U.g./P.G.) classes taught (U.G./P.G./Ph.D.), number of Dissertations / Thesis guided/co-guided (M.Sc./D.D./Ph.D.), Examinerships (U.G./P.G./Ph.D.), Award/Honours received, number of books authored and number of papers published / conferences, workshops, seminars etc., attended at the National & International level. The Proposer / Secunder should also send the names and addresses of at least nine students (Former / Present) of the teacher who can be contacted for an confidential assessment of their teacher through a questioner specially prepared for the said purpose.

Procedure for selection and thereafter

1. A panel of judges will be constituted by the General Secretary to assess various nominations/papers. The judges will be senior Scientists / Professors with outstanding academic career and experiences in that particular specialty for which a particular Prize / Award is meant and they shall not be from the same Institution from where there are applicants for that particular award. Overall consensus of the judges will be final.
2. All the Awards / Prizes of APPI will be decided in the same year and the winners of various awards and prizes except award No. 12 and 13 will be informed well in advance by the General Secretary. They will be presented, their Awards / Prizes during the Inaugural function of the Annual Conference of APPI and will be invited by the Organizing Secretary to deliver their oration or present their paper during the Annual Conference of APPI in the same year.
3. All the Award / Prize winners will be presented a memento and a certificate from the APPI and not any TA / DA. Payment of their TA / DA and providing Local Hospitality is optional on the part of the organizers of the conference depending on their financial status. All the Award/Prize winners have to register as delegates for the conference. However, they can apply for a Subsistence Allowance from APPI provided that they are not getting any financial assistances from any other sources. The subsistence allowance shall be to and fro second class train fare from the place of their work to the city of the conference.
4. All the Award / Prize winners are requested to receive their Award/Prize in person and deliver their oration or present their paper during the Annual Conference of APPI of the same year.
5. If no paper is found suitable for a particular Award / Prize, there will be no award for that year.
6. The selected paper, if it is unpublished will be published in IJPP. In such case, the paper submitted for publication should not ordinarily contain more than 2500 words and as per format of IJPP.

7. Canvassing or presurising for an award will be treated as a demerit for the contestants.
  8. If any Award / Prize winner is unable to receive his / her Award / Prize personally and present the paper due to ungodable circumstances, the said Award / Prize will be retained in the office of the APPI for one more year and will be handed over to them during the APPI conference of the subsequent year when he/she has to present the paper.

BEST BRANCH AWARD

Nomination for the Best Branch Award may be submitted to the General Secretary, APPI by the Local Branch Secretaries with a list of activities orgaized by their branch during the year.

Criteria for assessing the branch for the Best Branch Award of APPI

Such of those Local Branches which desires to contest for the Best Branch Award of APPI, should furnish the following informations to the General Secretary of APPI through their Local Branch Secretary with in the last date fixed.

1. List of the members of the Local Branch who have enrolled as Life / Annual members of APPI.
2. List of the Scientific meeting / Guest Lectures / Symposia / Workshops or CME programmes conducted by the Local Branch during the year along with name of the speakers and participants.
3. Research papers presented by the members of the local branches in the National / International Conferences / meetings during the year.
4. National / International Conferences / meetings attended by the members of the Local Branch during the year.
5. Number of Research papers published / submitted in the scientific journals by the members of the Local Branch during the year.
6. Any other Recognitions / Awards received by the members of the Local Branch during the year.
7. Any other reports or Branch activity if any.

GUIDELINES FOR HOLDING THE ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF APPI

1. The General Secretary of the APPI will request all the Local Branches and suitable senior member of the APPI to send proposals for holding the Annual Conference, atleast two months before every Annual Conference of that particular year.
2. The proposal for holding the Conference can be sent by the Branches of the APPI to the General Secretary at any time of the year even before receiving the invitation from the General Secretary.
3. All the proposals, received by the General Secretary will be placed before the Executive Committee and the General Body for approval. Applicants will be subsequently informed the decision taken thereupon.
4. The dates of the conference should normally be from December 27-29. However, the local branches can request the Executive Committee and the General Body for any alternation in the date of conference, if there is any difficulty in holding the conference on the above mentioned dates. Also under unforeseen circumstances, the conference organisers can change the date of the conference, after getting approval from the General Secretary for the same.
5. The registration fee to be charged by the conference organisers may be approved by the Executive Committee and General Body, based on the proposals put forward by the conference organisers.
6. After getting approval of the proposal for holding the Conference the local branches can take further steps for organising the conference.
7. A local Organising Committee may be constituted by the local branch or by the Organising Secretary as soon as the venue of the conference is decided. The intimation regarding the formation of the local Organising Committee may be sent to the General Secretary and the Finance Secretary of the APPI.
8. The local Organising Committee can include the office bearers of the local branch (where the local branch exists), members of the APPI or any other members. Added to this, they can also have an advisory committee in which non members of APPI can also be included.
9. The refundable advance money or Rs. 10,000/- will be sent by the Finance Secretary to the Organising Secretary on request immediately on receipt of information about the formation of Organising Committee. The Organising Committee will also be provided with the latest list of members of the APPI by the General Secretary.
10. The Organising Committee should normally open an account in a scheduled bank in the name of the conference. The said account should be jointly operated by any two of the following office bearers i.e., President or Chairman of the Organising Committee, Organising Secretary and a Treasurer.

11. The first announcement of the conference will be sent by the Organising Secretary to all the members of the APPI atleast 8 months period to the conference.
  12. A final announcement of the conference may be sent to all the members of the APPI atleast before 4 months of the conference. This announcement should have all details about submission of manuscripts, registration, accommodation, subsistence allowance forms and railway concession forms (if applicable) etc.
  13. The Organising Committee can constitute various sub-committees to manage the various aspects of the conference.
  14. The Organising Secretary, should inform the delegates about the acceptance of paper and the amount received preferably within a month after the last date for submission of paper. Those, who are in need of provisional acceptance of their paper without paying the registration fee should write to the Organising Secretary, at least one month before the last date.
  15. The Organising Committee may seek guidance from General Secretary, Finance Secretary and from the Scientific advisory committee from time to time for the smooth conductance of conference.
  16. The programme should have provision for the Executive Committee meeting, on the day before the conference and General Body meeting, on the second day of the conference. It is preferable to have this meetings in the evenings until and unless there is any specific reason for changing the timings. These informations should be intimated, sufficiently in advance to all the Executive Committee Members concerned i.e., to all the branch Secretaries, representatives of local branches to Central Executive Committee, to Founder Members and also to all Ex-General Secretaries.
  17. Abstracts submitted for the conference should be published as an abstract volume suppliment of the Indian Journal of Physiology and Pharmacology. The details for the same will be provided by the Editor in chief of IJPP. This suppliment abstract volume of the scientific papers of the conference will be published by the organizers of the Annual Conference and covers for the same will be supplied by the IJPP. Conference Organizers will also provide about 400-500 copies of the same to IJPP for distribution among the members of APPI.
  18. The Scientific programme of the conference should have free communications session (oral/poster presentation). It can also have invited lectures and symposia. The speakers invited for "symposia" and "invited lectures" should have contributed sufficiently in the field as evident from their publication.
  19. Member of APPI are eligible for presentation of the paper at the conference.
  20. The award papers should be given due importance while arranging the scientific sessions.

21. A separate Scientific Session may be arranged by the Organising Secretary to select the best papers presented by Postgraduate and undergraduate students for the R. Srinivasan's prize and Harish Gupta prize respectively. These sessions may be kept together one day before the General Body Meeting.
  22. The local organising committee should not and TA/DA charge the registration fee and may provide local hospitality and other facilities such as travel expenses to the office bearers of the APPI on priority basis.
  23. The local organising committee should plan the budget and expenditure in such a way that it will be able to give about 25% of the registration fee to the IJPP and 50% of the balance to APPI.
  24. The money received for the conference should be spent for the conference only. A copy of the audited statement of account of expenditure should be submitted to the Finance Secretary, APPI within three months after the conference.
